VOL. 59 — NO. 13

Observations... By the Editor

Well, who will answer this question—what road is more important to the travelling public of Mississippi—Highway 90 along the Mississippi Gulf Coast or Highway 26 connecting Wiggins and Lucedale... the State Highway Commissioner undoubtedly was of the opinion that Highway 26 was far more important... so important that $2,000,000.00 was allocated by the commissioner to build a bridge over the Pascagoula River on this highway... the bridge is presently being built and dedication ceremonies will be held sometime in the future... yet, not a penny could be allocated for the building of the bridges over Bay St. Louis and Pascagoula River on Highway 90... to build a concrete bridge for a single lane it would have taken approximately $3,500,000.00 and the state highway department would have had to put up $1,750,000.00 and they just didn't have the money... as we said before... just a lot of buncumbe handed to us by our Commissioner... the reason Stone and George counties got the money and the new bridge... well, you know Stone County has a very able and influential young man representing them in the State Legislature... Boyce Holleman... and they are not going to hand him a lot of soft words and expect him to walk off... we, oh well, some day we will learn that personalities and politics should not enter into the election of our representatives in the Legislature... we should seek men of outstanding ability... and if we are able to elect them... keep them there... for a good man to serve in the Legislature at the salary paid them he must make a financial sacrifice... and too, remember each time you look at the toll bridge over the Bay of St. Louis, it is a monument of your indifference in the election of your representatives... and keep in mind the allocation of funds of the Highway Department, rests with the Commissioner... and there was none for Hancock, Harrison, Jackson Counties... the bills for funds for the building of rural roads in the State of Mississippi has finally passed the senate and is probably now on its way to the Governor for his signature... we have always advocated good rural roads... and were quite surprised when our Senator voted against the bill... stating that he wanted good roads, but not higher taxes... will one cent a gallon on gas mean a whole lot to each individual... the oil companies have raised the price many times and we are still buying gas... a two cent tax on beer... a pretty good tax as we see... the one disadvantage, only a few counties will pay it... these taxes are not going to hurt us if we get good roads for the people in our rural sections... our hat is off to Horace Kergosien for the splendid work he has been doing in trying to keep the present location of the bridge and highway through Bay St. Louis... he has secured the signatures of the property owners along the present highway to a petition to the Highway Commissioner, and is urging the folks to become interested in the fight to keep the highway where it is presently located... remember an injury to your neighbor, finally reaches you... do you know Hancock County has fallen down on the Rer Cross Drive... there has only been $1500.00 collected to date on a quota of $4100.00... think of the good the Red Cross did in our midst, and then loosen the purse strings as much as you can...

Recover Body Of Tupper Drane After Four Days Search; Empanel A Jury

Concluding a four day search, the body of Tupper Drane, 42 year old Jackson resident who was drowned Saturday evening March 25 in the waters just off Lakeshore was found Wednesday at 11:15 a. m. by Sheriff Burton D. Johnson and a crew of men who had been searching the waters since Sunday morning. Sheriff Johnson said the body was floating near the spot where Drane was drowned, when he jumped overboard to save a fellow passenger who had fallen from the boat.

Mrs. E. Sabbath, Director, Opens Theatre Season With Smash Hit

The producer, Mrs. Eleanor Sabbath, and the cast of the present Little Theatre production, "Strange Bedfellows" opened the 1950 Theatre season Thursday night with a smash hit.

The hilarious comedy by Florence Ryerson and Colin Clements is being staged at the Theatre playhouse; it will run tonight and Saturday, April 1.

The three act comedy takes place in the fall of 1896; the entire action occurs in the winter parlor of Senator Cromwell's mansion on Nob Hill, San Francisco; the plot is centered around women in Politics and the opposition given by their mates when they fight for the right to vote.

The costumes, stage and make-up can compare to the work of professionals. Philip Allison, Mrs. Marie Louise Blair, Mrs. Ruth Luderbach and Mrs. Katherine Wilson were responsible for the letter-perfect stage set. Mesdames Odette Wittesberger, Louise Drescher and Janette Bontemps are to be complimented on the lovely costumes; and Mesdames Grace Weigand, Audrey Seghers, Vicki Henry and Donna Anderson for the expert make-up job.

The comedy moved along at a rapid pace; the well-acted parts kept the interest of the audience alive. Mark Solomon as Ling was perfect as the Oriental servant; while J. J. Kelleher as the bellowing Senator William Cromwell impressed the audience with the idea that he was a hard-boiled husband of the past who loomed the family. His word was law. Mr. Kelleher was made for the part.

His wife, Louise Drescher, was the calm unassuming type; she was the perfect mother. Letitia Noto, making her first appearance with the Theatre gave a good performance as the maid.

CAPTIVES SPOTLIGHT
In every show there's always one person that captures the spotlight from the others. In "Strange Bedfellows" Addie Cromwell Hampton, played by Bettie Husband was the victor from the comedy angle. Mrs. Husband portrayed the mixed-up wife of an Englishman and the daughter of the Senator. She was strictly anti-suffragette but her new sister-in-law, Clarissa Blynn Cromwell persuaded her to see the other side of the story.

Betty Lee Mitchell as the sister-in-law brought chaos to the once-peaceful Cromwell household when this suffragette leader into the her husband, Matthew introduced home.

OUTSTANDING PERFORMANCE
Senator Cromwell gave some outstanding performances when he would go into fits of rage against Clarissa's ideals.

Miss Mitchell who moved with ease gave one of the best dramatic performances of the night.

Paul Tourne, another newcomer, was a little stiff at the beginning, but as the play progressed his acting improved.

The juveniles in the play, Noelle Dick, and Jerry Kiefer and Martin Noto, as Lillian and Nicky Hampton and Vincent Pemberton gave commendable performance.

Renaldo Haas, another newcomer, could take his accent to England and feel right at home. As the Senator's son-in-law he brought forth a number of laughs from the audience with his antics.

Mrs. E. C. Samuel and Mrs. Philip Allison as society members of the anti-suffragette party were perfectly cast and added much to the comedy.

The plot began to thicken when Mrs. Tillie Sparker, played by Mrs. Caroline Kiefer, made her entrance. Mrs. Sparker, the owner of the "Red Rooster," an establishment along the Barbary Coast, helped the ladies persuade the men to see their point in wanting the right to vote.

Mayor Ambrose Tibbett, George Fletcher, made few appearances on the stage but his comic performance was one of the better ones.

In all Mrs. Sabbath is to be congratulated on this, her first experience as the director of a play.

In the crew working with Sheriff Johnson Wednesday were Roland Johnson, Clarence and Ray Peucheu, Bay St. Louis; Ray and Wilford Boudage Lakeshore and T. J. Bourgeois, Waveland.

SLIPS OFF BOAT
D. K. Patton, New Orleans, owner and operator of the cruiser, "Lady Liz," said the accident occurred at 6:45 prior to his turning into Bayou Cadet for the night. Mr. Patton said that his nephew Thomas Patton, 39 years of age, slipped off the boat and Drane jumped overboard in an effort to help him. A life raft and two ring buoys were thrown the men. Mr. Patton, who was at the wheel of the boat, leaped and came back to the two men in the water.

PATTON INJURED TOO
Both men, Mr. Patton said, were holding to one buoy and the others on the boat were pulling them in.

Just about the time they were to get them on the boat Drane let go of the buoy and sank. Patton was pulled on board in an unconscious condition as the propeller of the boat had ripped his thigh, knee and leg and stripped him of his clothing. He is in the Kings Daughters hospital here.

BEGIN SEARCH
Coast Guard boats out of Gulfport joined in the search for the missing man, and at daylight a plane came for the search.

Drane, the father of five children, was the purchasing agent for the Mississippi Power and Light Company.

Other members of the boating party were the drowned man's brother, Becker Drane, Stewart Irby Jr. and Buck Gatewood all of Jackson.

ON FISHING TRIP
In an interview with Mr. Patton, he said the group had left New Orleans Saturday on a fishing trip and had planned to spend Saturday night on the "Lady Liz" in Bayou Cadet.

Mrs. Patton had gone to Little Rock Arkansas to visit relatives who were ill; she arrived here and joined Mr. Patton at Hotel Reed Sunday night.

The body was turned over to Fahney Undertakers and was shipped to Brookhaven for burial on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

Sheriff Johnson and his crew had been on an intensive search each day since.

EMPANELS JURY
Coroner J. T. McCaleb empaneled a jury and an inquest was held and a verdict returned of accidental drowning.

Benefit Minstrel Is Credit To Director and Cast
The eyes of the audience turned away from the stage as Josephine the City cousin in "A Pickaninny Backyard Minstrel" made her entrance through the rear door of the St. Joseph Academy auditorium, March 24.

EXCELLENT PRODUCTION
All jokes were new and humorous. These high school students and their director, Mrs. Neilus Rhodes, are to be commended for this excellent production.

The musical numbers showed that work and cooperation had gone into making them the success that they were.

Amos, Roy Gulotta, edged in and stole the show from the entire cast; with his dry wit and lazy manner of moving along he kept the spectators amused with his antics as the tired announcer. He had little acting to do but his was by far one of the best performances.

The curtain opened on a "Pickaninny Backyard" where Jimmy Gilmore, the father, was doing the wash, his children were helping him get ready for the arrival of their cousin from New York.

Upon her arrival, Josephine suggests that they portray life in New York with songs and dance routines of show the children what city life was like.

James O'Brien and Gilbert Schmidt as Willie and Radish put on an amusing skit, which was followed by Joe, Aloysius, Henry and Bones (Scotty Assenheimer Al Burns, Johnny Gutknecht and Rikki Gutknecht) who rendered a song.

"Chattanooga Shoe Shine Boy" was put on by Jerry Bienvenu, Jimmy Kramer, John La Bruzzo and Speedy Rhodes; it was a specialty song and tap dance.

Al Burns and Johnny Gutknecht gave a comical skit.

"Stars Fell on Alabama" was rendered by Roscoe, Stanton, Rosenblath; and Jackson, Joe Clark, gave a monologue.

Sugar, Gay Rhodes, danced like an old-timer, followed by Jerry Bienvenu and Patsy Favre dancing to the tune of "Swanee River."

Mrs. Rhodes who authored the script and the members of the cast are to be complimented on a show well-produced and carried through. These students gave outstanding performances.

The show will be put on again at a later date for the benefit of the Kings Daughters hospital.

Entered as Second Class Matter at the Postoffice, at Bay St. Louis, Miss., under Act of March 3, 1879.

WHO?

The Governor has signed the bill establishing a concrete monument to the political indifference of the people of the Mississippi Gulf Coast. The toll bridge over the Bay of St. Louis, on the "Forgotten Highway" will soon become a reality.

Before any bonds shall be issued under the authority of the act, the Governor must name a trustee, which shall be a banking institution, having its main domicile in either Harrison or Hancock County.

This is the clause which caused our State Senator to expound his belated opposition to the bill, when it was returned to the Senate for concurrence in the House amendments, and which has brought about some discussion locally. As we stated last week, it is probably the only part of the bill worth a hoot.

Following its appointment, the trustee shall confer with the State Highway Commission and ascertain the estimated cost of the project according to the plans and specifications to be prepared and approved by the Commission; the trustee shall then prepare and submit to the Highway Commission a plan of financing such project, adequate to provide the necessary funds, having in mind the least onerous burden upon the area, to be served by the project, and the best interest of the State. The plan shall designate the maximum amount of bonds to be issued, the maturities and place of payment thereof, the terms of any trust agreement to secure the payment of the principal and interest of such bonds. It shall include a schedule of tolls to be charged and collected for the use of the project to provide sufficient funds for the payment of the principal and interest on such bonds as they become due to be paid.

The bonds authorized under the act must be sold by the State Bond Commission, from time to time as requested by the State Highway Commission to provide funds for the cost of said project during construction, and must not bear more than 4 per cent interest. The proceeds from the sale of the bonds shall be deposited with the trustee, upon their qualifying as a depository, and the funds shall then be subject to the requisites of the State Highway Department for the payment of the costs of construction.

The State Highway Commission shall be responsible for the collection of the tolls and shall require all employees handling such funds to enter into bond, in a sum, double the amount of funds to come into possession of the said employee at any one time and the funds so collected shall be deposited with the trustee daily.

It shall be the duty of the trustee to annually file with the State Highway Commission a statement of all moneys coming into its hands from the operation of the bridge, with its recommendations of the maximum rate of schedule of tolls, to be charged for the use of the project for the ensuing year, and if it appears that with the use of any surplus then available, having due regard for sound banking practices, that the tolls so recommended will provide sufficient funds to pay the principal and interest on the bonds to become due in such year, it shall be the duty of the Highway Commission to fix and adopt such rates and tolls.

And now, the crux of the bill, which is supposed to have caused the great chaos and confusion among our people, of which our Senator spoke: THE FEE OF TRUSTEE. Here is the exact wording of the bill in this regard: "The project trustee shall be vested with such further powers, consistent with the provisions of this act, as may be provided in the trust indenture and shall be entitled to receive CUSTOMARY BANKING CHARGES FOR ITS SERVICES, which may be fixed by the trust indenture; payments thereof to the trustee, and payments of expenses incurred by the trustee, shall be made out of any funds realized under the act upon requisition drawn by the trustee upon the state auditor." In addition to the fee of the trustee, the bill authorizes the trustee to employ attorneys to assist in the preparation of the trust agreement and to pay for such services; however, in no instance shall the attorneys fees paid for the issuance of refunding of bonds under the act exceed ONE THIRD OF ONE PER CENT OF the principal of the bonds.

The hue and cry which went forth as to the great sums of money to be paid the trustee, we think was merely a smoke screen. The real point involved was—who would be trustee? As we understand it customary banking charges are established, and if the charges of the Hancock Bank as trustee for the Port of Gulfport is a fair criterion, great fees will not be paid the trustee. We are reliably informed that the total fees paid by the Port Commission during the past five years amounted to $1650.00, or an average of $300.00 a year; and the bond issue for this project was near $1,000,000.00. Included in this fee was the charge of the trustee for the settling of storm damage insurance which amounted to approximately $200,000.00.

If we must have a toll bridge, we are happy that a clause naming a trustee was inserted. Our sole regret is that the Highway Commission will have any authority whatsoever, and we sincerely hope the Governor will name as trustee, a banking institution with the interest of the coast at heart. It may be possible within a few years to have a toll free bridge.

Longtime Effort

FRED OSBORN, former U.S. representative on the U.N. atomic energy commission, recently predicted that it might take 100 years of prodigious effort by the American people to work out a permanent peace.

In view of the fact that the world fought for a solid century during the Hundred Years War and in the 17th century went through the spasms of the Thirty Years War, Osborn's estimate may not be too pessimistic.

Lut, being a perennial optimist, I have scaled the time down to 25-50 years. I agree with Osborn, however, that it will require the same kind of hard work our forefathers put in when they built this country to win the peace against a country which is determined the free world must disappear.

As stated before, my own ideas on winning the peace are only "Gropings," and I make no claim of originality or copyright. They are put forward after talking with a great many people, including Sumner Welles and Sen. Brien McMahon, who has done more solid thinking about the Russian problem than anyone along Pennsylvania avenue.

At any rate here is my program:

GOP Coalition

1. BRING about greater unity among the American people. We cannot fight a prolonged war of nerves entailing great sacrifices, unless we have just as much national unity as during the recent war. Greater unity can be achieved by:

A. Bringing outstanding Republicans into positions of leadership inside the administration.

B. Keeping the American people better informed. Instead of abrupt handouts from the White House or hasty statements made at presidential press conferences, Mr. Truman should go on the air every month with a frank and personal report to the American people.

2. GOAD, maneuver and manipulate Moscow into calling an international conference on atomic energy or anything else—even if we know in advance it will fail. We shouldn't get up any false hopes, because Russia isn't going to let any conference succeed—unless she writes the ticket. And we should attend any conference no matter who calls it, because we cannot leave unturned any stone that might bring peace.

The World Forgets

But it would be extremely healthy if we could force Russia into calling a conference. We should remind the world that we have called conference after conference. Time after time we have gone to Moscow, while Russia has taken almost no initiative for peace. But the world has forgotten this. We need to remind people of this fact—over and over again. We have been called warmongers so often that the world is beginning to believe it. And we have been either lazy or bungling or both in showing that just the opposite is true.

3. HOLD the next session of the United Nations assembly in Moscow. This is Sen. Brien McMahon's idea, and an excellent one. Most of the Russian people have a distorted notion that the U.N. is not a free and democratic assembly, that Soviet delegates get no breaks, that the cards are stacked in favor of imperialism.

If the United Nations went to Moscow, especially for a debate on controlling atomic energy, the Russian people would get some conception of the U.N.'s truly democratic form, where any nation can speak its piece.

Series of Talks

4. IF MOSCOW will not call an international conference, then we have the excuse of holding a whole series of conferences under the North Atlantic pact. As Senator McMahon once again has pointed out, the North Atlantic pact provides not merely for military assistance, but an Atlantic council to handle political problems.

We have neglected this. We have concentrated on the military phases of the pact, ignoring the Atlantic council which could mobilize the free world in order to create, as McMahon says, "A climate for peace."

5. BUT MOST important of all we must reach Moscow's Achilles' heel. This heel is friendship with the Russian people.

Most of us forget that the real reason for the iron curtain is to protect the weakest point in the Russian armor—her people. For what the Kremlin fears most is contact of the Russian people with the outside world.

All this indicates that friendship with the Russian people is the real way to win the peace. But despite this it is also the point we have most neglected.

What we need to remember is that, if we can influence the Russian people, we need not build great armament.

Subsidies Costly

PROBABLY no one man knows how much the taxpayers of the United States pay out annually in subsidies. The amount, however, runs to well over a billion dollars each year and the subsidies run the gamut of paying for meals of senators in the shabby restaurant and haircuts and shaves in the congressional barber shops to mail, airplane, steamship, oil and gas, farm support prices, some mining, the various scientific researches and for many other items.

No one knows just how much the farm price support program is costing the taxpayers. We do know that the Commodity credit corporation has consumed or put into operation most of the four billion dollars granted to it and is now seeking two million more with which to carry out commitments under the various laws. Of course not all of this money is lost. The government will obtain some revenue from the tremendous stocks of cotton, peanuts, wheat, corn, and other commodities upon which it has made loans or purchased outright.

But those checks made out to farmers; those checks made out to airplane companies, about $12 million dollars this last year; to subsidies to a senate restaurant, about $42,500 this year; the post office department about 500 million; about 50 million in operating subsidies alone to steamship companies; millions more in oil rebates or "loopholes" to oil and coal companies and scores of other subsidies are direct payments and out of pocket expenses for the taxpayers.

For instance, in addition to an operating subsidy of 24 million dollars, the United States taxpayer is paying about 18 million of the cost of constructing the 70-million-dollar liner, the S.S. United States. The United States Lines pays only 28 million.

This steamship subsidy is supposed to represent the difference between what it costs to have the ship built in this country and in a foreign shipyard. In other words the government, or the taxpayer is paying this subsidy to have the business kept at home.

The operating subsidy, and both are handled through the maritime commission, is supposed to represent the difference between U.S. costs and those of competing foreign lines. At the present time the maritime commission is paying out subsidies on the construction of five other large passenger-cargo type ships.

So it is costing the taxpayer of the country these millions of dollars to keep a merchant marine on the high seas, and the government pays for the features it wants incorporated in these new ships with the idea that they may become troop carriers in case of war. Tariffs are a form of subsidy, in some cases direct subsidies to American business.

New Car for General

Brisk but kindly Gen. George Marshall, as head of the National Red Cross, has a long, new, sleek Studebaker car. It's a super-size job. Here's how it came about. The general was grouching one day to his good friend Paul Hoffman, boss of RCA, and former president of the Studebaker corporation, about the deficiencies of his old car of pre-war vintage. The general was under the mistaken belief that his old car was a Studebaker and after he had tolled off to Hoffman all its faults, which were many, the latter said: "Why general that isn't a Studebaker but I can see you do need a new car." And up came shortly thereafter was the big new special job for the general.

Seek Coal Peace

Three senators, Humphrey of Minnesota; Douglas of Illinois and Morse of Oregon, have come up with the proposal of a bi-partisan commission to seek a cure for the sick and ailing coal industry. It would not deal with the present crisis, nor seek to put the whole blame on John L. Lewis, or anyone else, would seek to prevent further coal crises, and to find fundamental remedies for fundamental ills.

On the basis of estimates of the 1950 census, seven states will gain 15 representatives in congress.

How Law Stalled

It's strange how important legislation becomes stalled on little things. The senate finance committee was considering the house-passed bill to overhaul the social security program. A witness testified that tips of hotel employees should not be considered as taxable for social security purposes. So the talk veered for hours, it seemed on this question of how much how often and in what amounts employees were tipped.

—Mrs. Robert Lee Hamilton and children, Linda and Bob, will leave Friday for Montgomery, Alabama, to spend Easter with Mrs. Hamilton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cagle.

—Mrs. Wayne Alliston, who has been ill at her home here for several weeks, was moved two weeks ago to the Baptist Hospital in Jackson. Last reports are that she is showing a slight improvement.

Farewell . . .

The Merchant Marine Cadet base was placed in care taker status March 21, the first respite from active existence since its birth in 1942. It was in late August 1942 that the Henderson Point property was acquired and the three main buildings which had formerly occupied the place—the "Inn-by-the-Sea"—were immediately made available to accommodate three hundred Cadets, and since that time thousands of men have received the benefits of its training. The upper class was detached March 21 and the lower classmen were transferred to Kings Point, N. Y. to complete their fourth class training, March 22.

Rev. Father Ames who had been teaching in Peking University in China, and who is now working for his doctor's degree in Chicago University of Chicago, Illinois, visited the various classes of the St. Rose de Lima School Wednesday, March 22. He asked the students to remember in their prayers the people of China, especially the recent converts to the faith. He said that they had had many converts since the menace of Communism swept the country and that it would be difficult for these converts to remain steadfast under present conditions.

Thursday, March 23, Mrs. Ceola Lizana and Mrs. Aaron Smith were called to the bedside of their father, Mr. Andrew Lee of New Orleans. Mr. Lee died Saturday, March 25, at 10:20 p. m. Sunday, Imelda Clegett and Mr. Aaron Smith and daughter left for the funeral which was held Monday morning at eight o'clock. A Requiem High Mass was offered at the St. Joan of Arc Church. Interment was at the Greenstreet Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Simms, Sr., had as their guests last Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Major and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Goupies of New Orleans.

Ground-breaking ceremonies were held by members of St. Philomena's Church in Pass Christian Monday, March 20. A new red brick and tile building will be constructed. The new school will be known as "Father Sweeney Memorial School" in honor of Father Stephen Sweeney who was pastor at St. Philomena's for twenty-seven years. The school will be located on Saucier Avenue near the church.

On St. Patrick's day the Catholic grammar school basketball conference ended. Trophies went to St. Philomena's senior girls and junior girls; to the boys of St. Theresa's Academy of Gulfport; and to Mt. Peter's Junior boys of Pascagoula. Plans were made to extend the conference next year to include the St. Rose de Lima school and Our Mother of Sorrows of Biloxi.

Mr. Walter Dautrive of New Orleans spent Sunday with his sister, Mrs. Mary Dautrive. He also visited Mr. and Mrs. John Dautrive of Webb Street.

NEWS OF OUR COLORED PEOPLE

Dedicate Valena C. Jones School

By Senior Students of St. Rose de Lima High School

Miss Fannie Williams, guest speaker at the dedication service of the Valena C. Jones High School Sunday paid tribute to the memory of Valena C. Jones McArthur for whom the school is named. It had been the hope of Mrs. McArthur of the building being dedicated "that in its students would be helped to self realization through an understanding of themselves and their environment and the knowledge that they counted for one; through a growth in human relationships, started in the right sort of home and fostered in the school and community. Children well trained in the school, in courtesy in meeting people, in the ordinary needs of every day life will go into the community reflecting this same good training." In speaking of the spiritual values, of broadening the three r's with music and art and other activities which make life richer and more satisfying the speaker illustrated her remarks with stories from her own years of experience in a most interesting way. The building which has been occupied for a year, was dedicated Sunday March 26.

Platform guests were a former principal of the school who now lives in Ohio, S. J. Ingram, City Schools superintendent; and board members, Mrs. C. C. McDonald, Rene de Montluzin, Jr., W. W. James and Mrs. James.

The program was as follows: Prelude; "Unfold Ye Fortals"—Charles Gounard; Invocation: Rev. M. P. Johnson, pastor, Valena C. Jones Methodist church; Anthem: "Make a Joyful Noise," by Caleb Simper—Valena C. Jones Methodist church choir; Scripture: Rev. T. B. Brown, Pastor Mount Bethel Baptist church, Gulfport; Solo: "Bless This House," by May Blake—Mrs. Grace Pollard; Presentations of platform guests and City officials: Tyrone Y. Sexton, principal; Music: "Send Out the Light"—Gounard—Valena C. Jones Methodist Church Choir; Introduction of Speaker, Bishop Jones; Address: Miss Fannie Williams, principal Valena C. Mrs. Samuel Gives Book Review At Clermont

By MRS. J. G. TREUTEL

The benefit book review given by the Clermont Harbor Home Demonstration club was a complete success. Mrs. E. C. Samuel reviewed "The Natchez Woman" by Alice Walworth Graham in her concise and fascinating manner. She was introduced by Mrs. J. William Hill, Jr., program chairman.

Mrs. Houssey won the book, autographed by the author, as the entrance prize.

Harold's new auditorium was the setting, and the individual tables were decorated with flower arrangements made by the members of the Blue Jean Garden Club of Clermont Harbor. Two of the arrangements, those made by Mrs. A. J. Carrick and Mrs. A. A. Landry, were prize winners.

Those attending the event were Mesdames J. Tanet, Houssey, Raymond Nelson, B. Bercekes, G. Tucker, R. Bordages, all of Waveland; Mesdames I. Richmond, L. Peterson, J. A. Orr, A. A. Landry, Ola Moore, L. J. Kern, E. Ladner, J. L. Saleby, Honard Burleigh, A. Bing, Roy Dennis, F. Alfonso A. J. Carrick, H. L. Wesner, Sr., Bertha Augustin, E. B. Juckabee, J. P. Rousseau, of Clermont Harbor; Mesdames H. A. Russ, C. E. Becker, Ernest Moore, Lionel Bordages, Ruth Miller of Lakeshore; Mrs. A. T. Burleigh, of Sunset, La.; Mrs. A. G. Dantagnan of Bay St. Louis and Mrs. Jules E. Schroth of New Orleans.

The club extends its sincere gratitude to all those who so generously aided in this entertainment.

The rebuilding committee of St. Ann's Catholic church extend its thanks this week to Mr. Albert Frey and Mrs. Abbie Bing for the donation of a pew. They also wish to thank the ladies who donated cloth to make the covers for all statues during the Lenten season.

Many things are still needed aside from the pews; so if anyone feels inclined to make a donation they can do so by contacting any of the committee members, Mrs. A. J. Carrick, Mr. Albert Garcia, Mr. J. G. Treutel, Mrs. H. L. Wesner and Mr. H. L. Wesner.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Wesner on Forest street were their friends, Mrs. Sidney Mayley, her daughters and sons-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Broil and their little daughter, Bonnie, and son, Jack, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peterson and Mrs. Mayley's sons Sidney, Jr., and Warren, all of New Orleans.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Zanco and children, Jane Ann and Michael, of New Orleans spent the weekend with the J. G. Treutel family.

The many friends of Mr. Joseph Garcia wish him a speedy recovery from the sick spell he had Sunday.

The Clermont Harbor school play sponsored by the teachers will be Friday at 7:30 p. m. Admission will be 25c for adults and 10c for children. Everyone is invited to attend.

The coffee hour which was held in the home of Mrs. G. Robertson, after worship service, Sunday night, March 26, was enjoyed by many.

The Blue Jean Garden Club of Clermont Harbor held its monthly meeting Monday, March 27, at the home of Mrs. A. A. Landry. As it was the second birthday of the club, the table was appropriately arranged with favors and a birthday cake. The decorations were in the club colors, blue and gold, and the club flower, the wild iris was used.

Mrs. A. J. Carrick won first prize for cultivated flowers with a lovely display of roses, and Mrs. A. A. Landry won another ribbon for potted plants with her wax begonia. Mrs. Ruth Miller won the entrance prize, a fern. Progress reports were made by various committee heads with little activity in each department reported.

A pamphlet containing several worthwhile hints on the care of flowers and another with the rules and by-laws of the club, was given each member. All enjoyed reports by those who were able to attend the recent pilgrimages, and it was decided to ask several persons to address the club in the near future on various topics of interest to all.

Among those attending were Mesdames C. E. Becker, A. Bing, J. P. Rousseau, R. Miller, H. Russ, H. L. Wesner, Sr., L. J. Kern, Sr., J. Schroth, H. Burleigh, F. O. McCoy, J. A. Orr, I. Richmond, J. L. Saleby, A. J. Carrick, R. Dennis, G. Robertson, F. Alfonso, B. Bankston, Sr., E. Ladner, A. Agregaard, F. Lawton, and the co-hostesses R. Landry and A. Mouldous. Guests were Mrs. A. Brink and Mrs. A. T. Burleigh.

The W. S. C. S. met in the church, March 22, at 7:30 p. m. After an opening prayer by Mrs. B. Bankston, Sr., and reading of the minutes, the treasurer reported that a total of $90.00 was collected as proceeds from the "Womanless Wedding" sponsored by the society, March 18.

More business of the society was discussed and a devotional program the title of which was, "Japan—Past and Present," followed. It was decided to hold all future meetings in the home of Mrs. R. S. Schurman, Jr., as suggested.

Among those attending were Mesdames F. O. McCoy, I. J. Williams, B. Bankston, Sr., B. Bankston, Jr., R. Prieter, P. Callico and F. Lawton. The visitor was Mrs. Joe Garcia.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bourlet and grandson, Harold, spent a week in the Bourlet home on Oak street. Visitors of the Bourlets were Mr. and Mrs. H. Weber, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Garcia and Son, and A. J. Bourlet and his friends.

The latest report on Mr. John Bordages, who has been hospitalized in New Orleans as the result of a fall several months ago, is that he is doing better and was able to sit up in a wheel chair recently.

Don't forget! "King of Kings," a movie, will be shown at the Clermont Harbor school, April 1 at 8 p. m.

Legion Strives To Step Up Rehabilitation Work

Placing added emphasis on service to disabled veterans, Commander Fred E. Fayard of the Clement R. Bontemps Post No. 139, The American Legion here told of the concerted efforts being made in Mississippi by the world's largest veterans organization to step up rehabilitation work.

SPONSOR SERVICE PROGRAM
"The Legion in Mississippi," declared Commander Fayard, "is sponsoring without assistance a thoroughgoing service program which is achieving an all-time high in results. From the Post level, such as may be seen in our local group, up to the Department Headquarters in Jackson we have an effective and operating service organization."

WEBER IS SERVICE OFFICER

Within the local Post it was stressed, a volunteer Service Officer acts as both an information and assistance source to veterans of this area. Mr. Wilson Weber was selected by the Local Legionnaires to serve in this capacity for the 1950 term.

At the level of State Headquarters for the one hundred ninety-eight Legion Posts in Mississippi, John R. Powell, well-known in service circles, heads up the Legion Service Division for Mississippi in the capacity of Department Service Officer. Commander Fayard said that the more complicated cases are referred to Powell who deals directly with the VA representing personally the interests of the veteran in question. "Veterans Service," said Commander Fayard, "continues to occupy the first demand upon American Legion resource and effort."

Cancer Drive Goal Set at $14,565,000

"Strike Back, Give to Conquer Cancer" is the challenging slogan of the 1950 Cancer Crusade of the American Cancer Society. April is National Cancer Control Month, authorized by Congress and Presidential proclamation. Goal of the fund-raising drive is $14,565,000 for research, education, and service.

With the appeal for funds goes an intensive campaign to spread facts that may save lives. Last year more than 200,000 men, women and children died of cancer; one-third could and should have been saved by early diagnosis and prompt, proper treatment.

Today we bring you most important information: The cancer danger signals, symptoms that may mean the disease is present, and that should always mean a visit to your physician.

The danger signals are:

1. Any sore that does not heal.
2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
3. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
4. Any change in a wart or mole.
5. Persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
6. Persistent hoarseness or cough.
7. Any change in normal bowel habits.

Learn these. If one should develop go at once to a physician. And remember, also that a complete physical examination once a year, is one of the best protections against cancer or any other disease.

Strike Back, Give to Conquer Cancer.

To The Four Winds

According to a study made by the Federal Reserve Board, approximately one-half of all American families, 25 million in number, are free of all debt. Another 12½ million families have nominal debts, not exceeding $500 each.

Fortunately, the frugal people of this country have shown foresight. They now own over $130 billion in savings, bank checking accounts, Government bonds and in loan associations. There are 80 million life insurance policies in force totaling $215 billion with a cash value of $50 billion.

In a period of unprecedented prosperity, the prudence of the American people is praiseworthy. With commendable foresight, millions of them have fortified themselves against the uncertainties of tomorrow.

Unfortunately, the Federal Government, which should have set the good example in economy, has been careless with the people's money. Living beyond its means, it has scattered its substance to the four winds. Collecting the highest taxes ever extracted from its producers, it has refused to balance its budget or pay off its debts.

The enemies of USA, at home and abroad, Communists and their like, seek above all else the economic collapse of this Republic. They are not strong enough here to spring a revolution of violence, but if they can undermine our political and economic structure by forcing the nation to spend itself to death, they will have achieved their purpose.

All of the do-gooders on earth notwithstanding, Dollar Diplomacy will not save the world for democracy. We cannot buy the friendship of other peoples with money. If we cannot set the good example here in zeal for the American ideal and demonstrate the superiority of the American idea, we scatter our billions to no ultimate good purpose.

If USA balanced its budget, lived within its income and began paying its debts, it would soon gain and deserve the respect of the whole world. No people trusts a four-flusher. That economy so necessary to the security and prosperity of the individual American is just as essential to the solvency and survival of our system.

Joan Conway Becomes Sister Of Saint Joseph

Five young girls received the holy habit of the Sisters of St. Joseph in New Orleans, March 19. Among the number was Miss Joan Conway, former teacher at St. Joseph Academy, Bay St. Louis, who will henceforth be known as Sister Mary Michael.

As the organ played sweet strains, the Brides of Christ approached the altar to offer themselves to their Maker.

All eyes were turned toward them as, forgetful of all things earthly, they walked to the foot of the altar and petitioned for the privilege to consecrate themselves to the Master.

After being asked a few questions, they were told to divest themselves of their worldly attire to don the habit of the Sisters of St. Joseph.

AGRICULTURAL LEADER

SPEAKS

Dr. Paul Chapman, one of the south's most prominent agricultural leaders, will be the principal speaker at the luncheon meeting. He is head of the College of Agriculture, University of Georgia, and is well known for his work in agricultural economics. He is expected to point out the mutual interest business and farm leaders share in promoting the economic development of Mississippi.

"We feel fortunate in being able to secure Dr. Chapman as the feature speaker for the occasion," President Edmund Taylor said. "Mississippi is, and will no doubt remain, primarily an agricultural state. It is entirely fitting, therefore, that the main address at our first annual meeting be given by a person recognized as an authority in that field."

MAKE RESERVATIONS

"Last fall at the November 3rd meeting, we had one of the nation's top industrialists address the membership. The April 20th meeting will 'balance agriculture with industry' insofar as Council meetings are concerned."

Persons wishing to attend the meeting should make reservations with MEC headquarters Box 1201, Jackson. The luncheon tickets are $2.00 each. The business session begins at 10 a. m., with the luncheon starting at 12:30 p. m. Members and non-members are invited to both sessions.

Why Millions Call Him
"HOLY FATHER"

Catholic loyalty to the Pope is the cause of never-ending amazement to many non-Catholics.

They wonder how an exclusively spiritual leader can command the devotion of nearly four hundred millions of people. They cannot explain why this vast religious family... representing every race, color, language and political belief on the face of the earth... lives and grows through the ages, while man-made empires have their day of glory and then disappear.

What is there about this one man that causes people to speak of him in a hundred tongues as "Holy Father"?

We find the answer, of course, not necessarily in the holiness of the man himself, but in his Christ-given office. The answer is found by tracing the history of the Catholic Church... the history of 262 successive Popes... back through nearly 2,000 years to Christ Himself.

We know as a matter of historical fact that Christ did establish His Church... that He commissioned the Apostles Peter as its first head... that He sent His Apostles forth to teach men to observe all things He had commanded.

We know from the New Testament that the Church was actually organized... that it was governed by the Apostles under the leadership of Peter... that it was teaching Christ's truth far and wide, long before the last book of the New Testament was written and the books of the Bible were collected into one volume.

Christ's purpose in organizing a Church was to make certain that the good news of Redemption would be preached to all men... even to the end of the world. To accomplish this with fallible men, required that He establish a Church—divinely protected from error in transmitting His teaching through the centuries.

The Catholic Church traces its unbroken history back to the Apostles—back to Christ. And Catholics today call Pope Pius XII "Holy Father" because he is the lawful and historical successor to Peter, the first Pope. He is in our time... as Peter was in the first century... the Vicar of Christ on earth.

Would you like to know more about the Pope... why the promises made by Christ to Peter and his successors make the Pope the most important man in the world? Then write today for a pamphlet which we shall send you free and without any obligation. Ask for Pamphlet No. 4-N.

Soil Conservation

By J. L. BISHOP
Soil Conservation Service

Farmers in Hancock County Soil Conservation District are busy purchasing Sericea lespedeza seed to plant. A seed-store dealer has sold 2 tons of sericea lespedeza seed to farmers in Hancock and Pearl River Counties. Farmers are aware of the fact that sericea, properly planted, mineralized and managed will provide spring, summer and fall grazing as well as good hay crops. Here are some suggestions if you are planting sericea this spring.

LAND PREPARATION
Plow the land in the fall or early winter. Harrow before planting to form of good seedbed, and allow the soil to be settled by rain before planting. Satisfactory seedbeds have been prepared by disking thoroughly where the ground was clean enough for a disc harrow to do a good job.

DR. DUKE K. MCCALL

A native of Mississippi, Dr. McCall is the son of Judge and Mrs. John W. McCall of Memphis, Tennessee. He graduated with honors from Furman University, Greenville, S. C., and received the Th. M. and Ph. D. degrees from Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisiana. He also holds honorary degrees from Furman, and from Baylor University, Waco, Texas.

FERTILIZE TREATMENT
Apply broadcast about 500 pounds of superphosphate, 200 pounds of potash or 1,000 pounds basic slag and 200 pounds of potash per acre. 600 pounds of 0-14-10, 0-12-12 or 0-14-7 or similar fertilizer per acre may be used if available; harrow fertilizer into the soil.

DATE OF SEEDING
For vigorous second-season growth, sow in late February or March when moisture conditions are favorable. A simple rule is to begin planting about three weeks before the earliest corn planting date for the locality. Late spring plantings are frequently damaged by dry weather. Seedlings made in June or July have given satisfactory stands, but the plants from late seedings have not made as much growth the second year as those from earlier plantings. If unhulled seed is used, sow in January or early February.

RATE OF SEEDING
Sow 30 to 40 pounds of scurfed (unhulled) or 60 to 70 pounds of unhulled seed per acre.

METHOD OF SEEDING
Seeding sericea on small grain

WORLD-WIDE REPUTATION
Dr. McCall has a world-wide reputation as a speaker, educator and a religious leader. He is a member of the Baptist World Alliance Executive Committee, and Treasurer of the Southern Baptist Foundation. He has spoken on the Baptist Hour several times previously.

LEADS 6 MILLION BAPTISTS

Dr. McCall left the pastorate of Broadway Baptist Church, Louisville, in 1943 to become president of New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary. He held the latter position until May of 1946 when he became executive secretary of the Southern Baptist Convention Executive Committee. His tasks now include the leading of six million Southern Baptists in their worldwide evangelistic educational, and benevolent work.

Beginning Sunday, April 2, Dr. McCall can be heard over radio station WCGM at 3 p. m. The Baptist Hour speaker will be heard from April through June.

SERMON TOPICS
Topics for Dr. McCall's sermons are:

April 2, "Prepare for the Unexpected"; April 9, "A Miracle For You"; April 16, "Foil-proof Faith"; April 23, "The Escape to Heaven on Earth"; May 7, "Turning Sorrow Into a Song"; May 14, "Faith in Technicolor"; May 21, "Recovering Life's Zest"; May 28, "The Hero in Your Soul"; June 4, "The Myth of the Average Man"; June 11, "How to Multiply Yourself"; June 18, "Missing Heirs"; June 25, "The Peace Terms of Satan."

(oats) usually has resulted in poor stands. The best stands of sericea have come from broadcast seedings that were made after cultipacking land prepared as described in the first paragraph. The second best stands have been obtained from seeding following a drag harrow which left very shallow trenches along the contour. On steep slopes, cultipacking after seeding prevents drifting of seed. Seed planted in late spring or summer may give better stands if covered lightly, not over one-quarter of an inch.

MULCHING
Light mulching with straw after seed is sown has been helpful in obtaining stands on eroded areas where soil conditions were very unfavorable.

Sericea lespedeza does best on well drained soil. Farmers are urged to plant sericea on steep cultivated land, water disposal areas, in order to help prevent erosion, increase grazing and hay crops.

MAINTENANCE
Apply 400 pounds superphosphate, 100 pounds potash during late January, disking in lightly with disc setting slightly curved.

Mow weeds frequently on new stands. When sericea reaches 12 to 14 inches in height, it is ready to mow for hay. Leave stubble about 1 to 1½ inches. If grazed, mow frequently, so it will be tender for livestock. Sericea may be cut in middle of morning raked mid-afternoon and hauled into the barn late in the evening or early next morning. If the sericea is left unraked too long, it will shatter easily.

HOME AGENT NOTESHouse Dresses Present Problem

By MISS MADGE ALLRED

House dresses are a real problem to homemakers, according to a survey made by the Consumer Speaks project of the American Home Economic Association. In the 3 years of this survey more than 15,000 women discussed house dresses in their meetings.

Many of the women brought their "good buys" along to illustrate their points. They went over all dresses critically. Then each group made up a list of things they considered essential in a dress if it is to be worth the time, labor, materials and money invested in it. On the list they put such things as colorfastness, sturdy fabric, good design, no shrinkage. Then each woman voted for the ones she considered essential.

ALL-AROUND DRESSES

Usually homemakers buy at least one house dress each year. These dresses are the "Business dresses" of the great majority of women. They have to be suitable for all the things a homemaker has to do.

In the voting, colorfastness received the highest number of votes. The homemaker wants her dress colorfast to washing, sun, perspiration.

More than two-thirds of the votes were cast for quality of material and workmanship and only one-third for design details. The homemakers realized that a pretty dress won't stay pretty if the colors fade or the seams pull out.

They do not want to run upstairs and change their dresses if they see a chance to work in the garden for an hour. And they know from experience that sunlight often fades a gardener's dress. They want dresses labeled as to colorfastness and washability.

And to them the word "washable" on the label isn't enough. The label should state definitely to what the color is fast. Sunlight? Laundry? Or, what? To them they should be able to throw a house dress in the wash with the rest of the family clothes without fear that it will fade. The majority of the women said house dresses should require no special care.

Shrinkage was the second troublesome point. Labels stating definitely how much the fabric will shrink are the only safe guides to dresses that will not shrink so they don't fit. Other points to look for are fabrics that won't ravel, fabrics with no excessive finishes that once out when washed, leaving a sleazy material.

DRESS FOR COMFORT

In the survey nearly three-fourths of the votes were for good-fitting dresses and comfortable dresses to work in. The women want fullness in the proper places so the dress won't look "bunchy." They want skirts with enough width at the hem, but not so wide they catch on things or trip the wearer. They also want good fitting, comfortable sleeves, neckline, and collars.

Workmanship makes a big difference, and is easy to judge. It takes only a few minutes to examine the construction of a dress. Well-made seams and hems are easily recognized. So are well secured and reinforced fastenings and pockets. Trimmings should be securely attached.

It is a good idea to study purchases even when buying an inexpensive item. Remember, you may not have three dollars or ten dollars to buy another house dress if a new one shrinks or the buttons break in the first washing or the trimming fades onto the dress.

The second step is to read the labels on garments and refrain from buying those that do not carry labels giving definite information as to fiber, colorfastness, and shrinkage. The third step is to try on the dress. It's the only way to judge if the size is correct and if the dress is comfortable when you sit, walk, reach, and stoop.

Rev. J. Driscoll, S.J., Gives Retreat To High School, 7th And 8th Grade

By HOPE CRASTO, S. J. A. SENIOR

On March 15, 16 and 17, the high school and seventh and eighth grades of St. Joseph Academy participated in their annual retreat. Father Joseph V. Driscoll, S. J. of Xavier Hall, Pass Christian, was the retreat master.

Rev. J. Driscoll, S. J.
DAY'S PROGRAM

The days were begun by the Missa Recitata at eight o'clock followed by breakfast. Father Driscoll gave four instructions every day, the final one in the evening closed by Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. Between instruction, the girls returned to their home rooms for spiritual reading, or made visits to the church or chapel. Stations of the Cross were held at three o'clock followed by lunch.

On Thursday evening, at seven o'clock, Father Driscoll gave a special talk to the senior class.

Father's talks dealt with the theme "falling in love with love"—love being representative of Christ. Each morning the girls were urged to renew their good intention of keeping silence throughout the day. As Father said, "keep your big mouth shut so that your big heart can be opened to Christ." He said that frequent conversations with Our Lord during retreat were essential.

LIFE'S PURPOSE

Father Driscoll discussed the creation of the universe and the sin of Adam and Eve. He brought out the fact that creatures were made for one primary purpose—to praise, reverence and serve Almighty God. But just as one is not able to praise, respect or serve a human being whom he does not know, so it is with God. Only in truly knowing and loving Him can one fulfill the end for which he was placed on earth.

Although Father Driscoll spoke of things which are often discussed on a retreat, his wit, originality and powers of expression gave to his talks a refreshing liveliness which held the interest of the group throughout the three days.

On Saturday morning, the retreat was closed with Mass and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Members of the student body who made the annual retreat are shown at prayer in the Chapel.

Boxing Is Good High School Sport Says S. Ingram

Prof. S. J. Ingram, superintendent of City schools, gave a brief talk on the purpose of high school boxing and the line drawn between that and professional boxing at the meeting of the Bay St. Louis Rotary club last Wednesday.

Prof. Ingram said that all effort is being put forth to keep this sport within the high school level; he added that boxing is not taught in high school with the thought of making money; but rather, it is taught as sport which teaches good sportsmanship and skill. Professional boxing, he continued, carries with it a large purse, the goal of all professional boxers.

"Some of our fans," the superintendent said, "lose sight of the fact and are noisy in their reaction when a fight is called off to prevent some injury to one of the boxers. I am appealing to the Rotarians to cooperate with me and the school in keeping this feeling down."

Boxing, Mr. Ingram added, is a good sport as long as it continues to be a sport and helps develop a boy's mind and muscles; when it becomes a money-making affair, it is no longer a sport.

Altar Society Holds Monthly Meeting Mar. 22

The regular monthly meeting of the Altar Society of Our Lady of the Gulf was held in the S. J. A. den Tuesday, March 22. Mrs. Scott Assenheimer, president, presided with Rt. Rev. Monsignor A. J. Gmelch and Rev. Father Edward P. Desmond and a representative number of members present.

A baby doll with a complete hand made layette was made and donated by Miss Vickey Gex to the Altar Society to be raffled for the summer fair. Mrs. L. S. Elliott was made chairman, and the lists of chances were taken by members. The doll and layette will be on display in the store windows shortly.

The president issued a request for white flowers for Holy Week; other colors will be gladly accepted. Rev. Father Desmond directed the

HOUSE CONCURS ON HOUSING

The House last week followed the lead of the Senate by striking the cooperative housing title from the Administration's so-called middle-income Housing Bill. This section was opposed on the ground that it was "socialistic," that it would have an inflationary effect, and that it accorded special privileges to a limited group in the form of unusually low interest rates and an unreasonably long time in which to pay and thus was unfair to veterans and others building their own homes under the terms of FHA. After knocking out this section, the House passed the bill by a vote of 361 to 10.

As passed the bill provided for the disposition of war and veterans' housing, and extended the present FHA loan and mortgage insurance programs.

While the Senate and House acted alike in striking out the cooperative section, the bills passed by the two Houses differ greatly in other respects and must go to conference.

COTTON ACREAGE

Both Houses have finally passed the bill to increase the 1950 cotton acreage, but only after a hard fight in the Senate, where a group of wheat state Senators opposed the bill after a provision to increase the wheat acreage also was knocked out. The bill will increase the cotton acreage that can be planted this year by 1,200,000 and should help considerably on hardship cases arising under the original acreage quota.

SUBVERSIVES

Lost in the welter of headline-grabbing charges by Senator McCarthy were several moves on the House side of the Capitol to curb subversive activities both in the Government and out.

By a vote of 347 to 12 the House gave its Un-American Activities Committee an extra $150,000. Among other things this would be used to cover an on-the-spot investigation of Communism in Hawaii, the cost of preparing a listing of one million names of known Communists and Nazis throughout the world, and the expense of revising a list of two hundred and fifty thousand individuals and several thousand organizations. The latter document, the Committee Chairman said, "when completed, will be a bible of subversive activities in the United States." Prominent among the opponents of the granting of these additional funds were Representatives Marcantonio and Powell, who represent the Harlem section of New York City and follow the Communist line con-

LITTLE COTTON BALES, DOG FOOD
SHOW WAY FOR DELTA INDUSTRIES

Two thriving young industries which have sprung up in the Mississippi Delta within the past three years are rapidly gaining national and southwide attention through their unique ideas and unusual products.

One is the backyard "Little Bales of Cotton" industry of L. A. Willis in Leland, world's largest producer of miniature cotton bales which are finding their way into the hands of souvenir hunters and cotton promoters the world over.

The other is the National Packing Company at Greenville, whose product KAM is literally going to the dogs, who eat this popular dog food at the rate of about 50,000 to 60,000 cans per day.

Both of these mushrooming little industries are proving to Delta people that a good idea, a little ingenuity and a lot of hard work make a good formula for successful operation.

Three years ago the Delta Council at Stonerville decided that it needed a miniature cotton bale to promote its highly effective cotton bale tag identification program, which not only assured spinners the best cotton grown in the land, that of the Mississippi Delta, but which also gave this section of Mississippi some very favorable publicity.

The search finally ended at the home of Mr. Willis, an official at the Leland Oil Works, who agreed to undertake the job of trying to produce and produce the tiny bales.

The first year he turned out 100 of the little cotton bales at his home. Last year he and 30 Leland workers produced 100,000 bales of cotton in various sizes.

Today "Little Bales of Cotton" has expanded into a sizeable addition in his backyard and he and his Leland helpers are making 21 various items from cotton, which are being snapped up by buyers all over the nation.

The cotton souvenirs include five types of miniature bale, nine cotton balls, cotton bunnies and a clown.

Last year Willis furnished cotton souvenirs for the Southern Cotton Growers Convention at Biloxi and has since that time received letters from all the governors who attended and from many of their wives.

He also supplies the cotton bales for use by the National Cotton Council in promoting the industry and supplies all such cotton needs for the Cotton Carnival in Memphis each Spring.

About half his products are used for advertising, for parties and conventions, the other half being sold as novelties and souvenirs. He sold one New York party a $2,740 order in a telephone conversation and had to deliver them on the following day. On another occasion the Chamber of Commerce of Bakersfield, California, ordered 4,000 bales for use in promoting their Maid of Cotton.

Willis himself, secretaries, maids and regularly traveled routes between town pitch in during their spare time either at home or at Willis' backyard plant and turn out the novel cotton products.

Although still just a home-produced product "Little Bales of Cotton" last year had a volume of about $10,000.

Aside from creating full time and sideline employment for 20 or more of Leland citizens, Willis feels that his products are

One of Mississippi's newest products, KAM dog food, which is manufactured by the National Packing Company at Greenville, is gaining Southwide popularity among dog owners and the pooches themselves. doing much to aid the cause of cotton.

Many of Willis' orders come via telephone and telegraph and rush orders are his specialty. He boasts that he can deliver an order almost anywhere in the United States overnight by air express.

Although "Little Bales of Cotton" are not distributed widely through novelty stores and souvenir shops his products have found their way into a chain of 10 candy shops scattered along heavily traveled routes between New York and Miami.

Not content with being the "world's largest producer" of little cotton bales, Willis expects to expand his thriving little industry this year, but the emphasis will continue to be placed on quality instead of quantity.

"We've got to use the best cotton obtainable," Willis says, "and produce the highest quality bale possible. Otherwise my product will do more harm to cotton than good."

Less than 10 miles West of Leland, near Greenville, another thriving industry, National Packing Company, has developed a dog food which is rapidly gaining acceptance of dog owners and kennel managers throughout the Southland.

In April 1948 J. Kent, owner of a rendering plant five miles from Greenville, hit upon the idea of producing a canned dog food in connection with his normal operation.

R. C. Bruce of Greenville, plant manager, undertook the job of perfecting a formula for the canine food and spent four months on the project, trying every conceivable combination of meats and other ingredients.

Kent's Cocker Spaniel "Taffy" served as the guinea pig and finally barked her approval after many mixtures and numerous tests. The product was given to kennel owners for further tests. To date only one dog has refused to eat KAM. The other pooches "prefer it over all other brands," according to Bruce.

Principal ingredient is horse meat, mixed with various other products palatable and nutritious to dogs. Approximately 60 head of horses and mules are slaughtered each day at the company's plant, which occupies a site right in the midst of Delta cotton fields.

The company currently produces between 50,000 and 60,000 cans of KAM daily, and plans to double production in 1950. Close to 100 workers are employed, a majority of them colored. The payroll runs about $12,000 per month.

Bruce says the company last year did a $750,000 business with a big increase expected this year. The product is distributed through warehouses and sales offices in New Orleans, Memphis, Dallas, Houston, Little Rock and through a new office to be opened in Chicago this year.

KAM is introduced in each new territory by giving each known dog owner a free can. The dog, Bruce says, does the selling from then on.

20 May 1950 marks the celebration of the first Armed Forces Day.

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES

Management Is Important In Chick Raising

By Howard F. Simmons

BROODER HOUSE MANAGEMENT

Check the management in your brooder house.

It's important to buy good chicks, and to provide a good house and equipment. But this does not mean you will be a success in raising chickens. Management is a big item.

Chicks should be started with the temperature two inches from the floor around 95 degrees Fahrenheit. The temperature should be lowered two to three degrees each week.

Temperature running continuously high saps the vitality of the chicks. Fear of chilling the chicks often results in keeping the room and the chicks too warm. Cool, fresh air is healthy, and chicks enjoy it if they can quickly get back to the heat.

If the room temperature is several degrees cooler than the hover, the chick can find the temperature best suited to it.

Chicks which are allowed to go outside for grass and sunshine should have one-half square foot of floor space each. Broiler chicks which are kept confined to the entire brooding period should be provided at least three-fourths square foot per chick.

Keep good feed and fresh water before the birds at all times. Birds cannot grow and develop without it. Guard against fire. Have a metal or concrete platform, two by two feet, for the brooder to set on. Keep drain pipe and flue open at all times.

PASTURE SEED

For all pasture seed bought, study tags before buying. Tags show the purity, result of germination tests and the noxious weed content.

Since Mississippi Farmers do not want just any kind of pastures, just any kind of seed will not do.

Seed dealers are anxious to help get the best seed available, and will explain how to tell good seed by the tag on the sack.

Buy now the millet, sudan, grain sorghum or soybean seed needed for summer temporary grazing.

DEVELOPING DAIRY HEIFERS

Dairy heifers are the future herd. Giving them good treatment is one of the best ways to develop a sound dairy enterprise.

Divide heifers into age groups. These groups should be six to 12 months, 12 to 20 months to freshening date.

Control internal and external parasites.

Provide mineral mixture in a covered box or under a shelter where the heifers will have access to it at all times. Also mineralize soil where feed grows.

Feed heifers all the high quality hay they will eat. Feed hay in a slatted rack.

Give heifers six to 12 months old just enough grain feed to keep them thrifty and growing. With good roughage, two to three pounds daily is sufficient.

Use a feed heavy in crimped oats. Avoid fattening feeds.

After heifers are a year old, feed no grain until four months of calving, provided they get plenty of good hay and nutritious pasture or silage. The last four months before a heifer calves she should get four to five pounds of concentrates daily.

Jersey heifers should weigh at least 500 pounds when bred, other breeds proportionally more.

Breed to the best bulls possible, using artificial insemination service if it is available. Keep breeding records.

The new vice-president received the largest number of votes for any candidate to sweep into office early in the counting the returns, The Daily Reveille, L. S. U. paper, stated.

EXTENSION OF DATE

The PMA County Committee announced today that the time for accepting applications for cotton allotments of new cotton farms had been extended to April 7, 1950. There are three types of farms that may be classified as new cotton farms in 1950. These are as follows: (1) A farm on which cotton will be grown for the first time in 1950, (2) a farm on which cotton was grown in 1949 for the first time since 1945 and on which the producer will want to grow cotton in 1950, and (3) any old cotton farms which grew cotton prior to 1946 but did not grow cotton during 1946, 1947, or 1948, but will plant cotton in 1950.

Anyone desiring to make application for a cotton allotment should do so right away as no applications will be accepted after April 7, 1950.

TO CONSERVE SOIL KEEP IT FERTILE

If you want to keep soil from washing and blowing away, keep it fertile, says Randolph W. Seal, chairman of the Hancock County PMA Committee.

He points out five ways in which fertility protects soil from erosion: (1) Fertile soil produces a heavier plant growth. This protects the land against wind and water erosion. (2) The heavier growth takes more of the water and thus reduces run-off. (3) Fertile soil is in better physical condition to take in and hold rain water, thus reducing the amount of run-off. (4) Higher soil fertility makes it possible to grow the needed crops on level land and sloping fields may be protected by sod and trees. This leaves more land for pasture, trees, wildlife and recreation. (5) The added income resulting from increased yields makes it possible for the farmer to carry out more effective practices on his farm.

"It is an endless chain, says the chairman. 'More fertility means better crops—better crops mean more conservation—more conservation means more fertility. And the reverse also is true. Eroded and depleted land means poorer crops. Poorer crops mean less conservation. Less conservation means more erosion and depletion.'

FERTILE SOIL SAVES GRASS AND LEGUME SEED

Fewer grass or legume seeds will be needed to produce a stand on soils which have plenty of avail-

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank the Sisters of St. Joseph Academy, the Brothers of St. Stanislaus, Mrs. Vickie Henry, Mrs. Doris Cohen, Mrs. Grace Weigand, Mrs. Margaret Shadoin, George Heitzmann, Mr. and Mrs. George Kramer, who helped make the "Pickaninny Backyard Minstrel" a success.

Mrs. Nelius Rhodes.

To be a US Army Field Forces soldier requires teamwork, leadership, self-reliance, and ingenuity, coupled with superb technical training.

able fertility, continues Mr. Seal.

The chairman stresses the point because most of the farmers who point adjust their corn, wheat, cotton or other crop acreages will take out some of their poorer land and plant much of it to grasses and legumes. It is this relatively poorer land which may be lacking in fertility and therefore will not supply quickly the fertility which the young seedlings of grasses or legumes need. The weaker ones of the seedlings will die. But if the amounts of lime and fertilizers needed are applied to these soils, and the seed is sown on a fine, firm seed bed, the young seedlings will grow vigorously from the time

Besides the saving of seed the practice of putting needed fertilizers on the soil has much to commend it, the chairman said. Better growth of the legumes and grasses is assured which in turn means that the soils are held more tightly by the increased growth of roots. In addition, a greater amount of organic matter is produced, which, when turned under, further builds up the producing ability of the soil. He points out that there are a number of practices in the 1950 Agricultural Conservation Program which will help farmers get the best results from their grass and legume plantings.

Assistance through the local PMA Office may be given for applying superphosphate potash, basic slag, rock phosphate, agricultural limestone and calcium silicate slag.

Much emphasis is being given to the applying of limestone and calcium silicate slag since there is a great need for liming materials on the land and they are available on a spread-on-the-land basis.

Joseph M. Fahey Dies On Mar. 31

Joseph Martin Fahey, brother of Rt. Rev. Leo F. Fahey, co-adjutor Bishop of Baker, Oregon, died at the Kings Daughters hospital, March 31 at 4 a.m.

Mr. Fahey had suffered a stroke a few days previous to his death.

The deceased, the son of the late John B. Fahey and Lena Dell Shannon, was born in Louisville, Ky. He was the brother of the late Miss Pearl Fahey, Edmond and Alphonse Fahey. For the greater part of his life he was employed by the L and N Railroad and upon his retirement moved to Hattiesburg where he lived with Bishop Fahey, the then pastor of Sacred Heart church.

Following his brother's consecration, Mr. Fahey came back to live at Bay St. Louis.

Toni Ladner Celebrates Second Birthday Sunday

Toni Ladner, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvan J. Ladner, was two years old Sunday, March 26. She had a birthday cake and had her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Bourgeois, Waveland and her grandmother, Mrs. Sylvan J. Ladner, Sr., her aunt Miss Emily Hosmer, Andy Bourgeois, Jr., and Catherine Bourgeois, John Ladner and her aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wiedman, Jr. as her guests.

"If I can build my life around my fellow men and love them I cannot fail," said W. F. Bond, Commissioner Mississippi Department Public Welfare, in addressing the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club, Wednesday at Hotel Reed.

Mr. Bond was invited to speak here by D. M. Russell who is in charge of the Foreign Relations program. S. J. Ingram introduced Mr. Bond.

Mr. Bond's trip from Jackson to Munich, a distance of 5000 miles, made by air; on this trip, he said, he had short stop-overs at Gander, New Foundland, Shannon, Ireland and Frankfurt, Germany.

In Germany Mr. Bond found a disturbed people some still loyal to Germany, some more or less indifferent to what may happen, but all look to the United States to save them from slavery in Russia. "They believe in the United States people and like us," he added. He found the Germans, in general, a rather fine people.

"They have suffered much as a result of the war over which they had no control, some wear a look of hopelessness."

"The Germans are 100 years ahead of the United States in soil conservation and forestry but thirty years behind in improvement. Ox carts are still in use and sickles used by hand for cutting grain. Many over there think Hitler is still alive and that he will come back into action," Mr. Bond added.

He described his visit to Displaced persons Camps; to Bergesgarden Hitler's hide out in the Bavarian Mountains; to Dachau, a concentration Camp during the war, and to Austria, Zurich and Switzerland.

In closing he said, "I wanted to come home. Home to where the loyalty, love of country, freedom of life and where the Stars and Stripes, gift from our ancestors, wave. This is home and wherever this flag waves we will always be right."
